CURAC informs us of the following presentations

Date& Time: Wednesday October 23, 2024 @12 noon Eastern

Time (ET)

Topic: Trump's Mail-in Voting Opposition and Canadians' Trust in the System

Speakers: Cary Wu, Associate Professor and York Research Chair, Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies and Andrew Dawson, Associate Professor of Sociology, Glendon College

Description: This discussion will explore Donald Trump's vigorous attacks on voting by mail. His relentless assault on the integrity of mail-in balloting has cast a shadow over the confidence of American voters. Our recent investigation suggests that Trump's false claims also had reverberations across the border, influencing how some Canadians view mail-in ballots.

Date & Time: Wednesday October 30, 2024 @12 noon Eastern Time (ET)

Topic: Halloween's Complex History

Speaker: Dr. Nicholas Rogers, Distinguished Research Professor Emeritus, Department of History, Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies

Description: Although Halloween is now a holiday without an official patron, in the medieval era it was a religious commemoration of death. Over time, its links to bereavement, harvest festivals, and youthful mischief have become increasingly attenuated. Today, it is a holiday of spooks and consumerism that draws mostly from Hollywood. This brief talk traces the transitions of the holiday, from Celtic Britain to contemporary North America.
